'Take my life and let it be consecrated Lord to Thee.' These words form the opening couplet of the consecration hymn which was written almost a century and a half ago and is still sung and loved today. Its author was Frances Ridley Havergal (1836-1879). In her forty-two years she wrote abundantly: her poetry, hymns, music and prose treasured on both sides of the Atlantic and beyond.

First published in 1880, Memorials of Frances Ridley Havergal, compiled and edited by her elder sister Maria (1821-1887), is a collection of letters, poetry and prose written by 'the sweet singer', which 'allow her to relate her own life-story - a sister's loving touch uniting the several links. ... May Christ be magnified by this record of her life and death! To her, Christ was indeed "all and in all". ... Yes, she was satisfied with Him, and knew what it was to "rest in the Lord", whilst she worked for Him. May I not add that an equally joyous and blessed experience may be ours; and that His grace, which was sufficient for her, is sufficient for all who, possessing "like precious faith", "follow His steps".' MARIA V. G. HAVERGAL, Preface to Memorials of Francis Ridley Havergal, 1880.
